In Memory-Doug Felt

(May 13, 1931 - Oct. 2, 2014)

Our club and the Dulcimer World lost a dear friend and great musician. Doug Felt has been a very good friend to many people and we all will miss him. Doug and Lee are most known for the products they manufacture and vend under the name of the "Ohio Bag Lady" or "The Dulcimer Bag Lady". Doug was known as "Mr. Ohio Bag Lady" or the "Dead Tree Troll." Doug was a familiar face at many of the dulcimer festivals east of the Mississippi. As we remember Doug please put Lee, his wife of 63 years, in your thoughts and prayers as well as his family. It won't be the same without Doug at our festival but we know that he's going to be watching over us!

Updates for Fall Festival & Unicoi Lodge

By President and Festival Director, Mike Van Demark

Unicoi Lodge is ready for us this year with a new look. John Shawhan and I recently visited the lodge and we were so impressed with all of the changes made. The lodge is absolutely beautiful. One big change you will see this year is that all vendors will be on the 2nd level of the lodge outside the Master Concert Halls and also around the atrium near the restaurant. This will eliminate the need of going up and down to see all of the vendors. The only table that will be on the 1st floor will be the "Festival Registration Table" and the "Used Instrument Swap Table" and of course classrooms.

The buffet restaurant will offer a-la-cart selections from their menu as well as the buffet for breakfast, lunch and dinner. The prepaid buffet prices are as follows the year:

Soup and Salad Bar	$10.00
Regular Lunch Buffet	$14.00
Dinner Buffet	$16.00

The prices above include a beverage of your choice (excluding alcohol) 15% gratuity and sales tax.

Unicoi will be preparing a varied selection of meals for us this year rather than the same as we have had in the past. Since we are the only group occupying Unicoi, they can make changes from the regular menus.

Prepaid meal tickets will be available on Thursday, Friday and Saturday for lunch and dinners only. The meal tickets will be available from the festival office located on the 2nd level where the vendors are.

I do want to mention that if you are running late for a workshop or concert and you order something a-la-cart from the menu, it will take extra time for it to be prepared. It will depend on the number of orders that are being prepared at the time you order. Please be patient.

About The Tablature . . .

In memory of Doug Felt who passed away recently, I am republishing "Lee's Waltz" which Doug wrote for his wife.

Doug Felt was all about playing music, whether at their festival Bag Lady' booth with wife, Lee, or under the trees at a campground or onstage performing at a festival. Doug very seldom missed a chance to play music on his mountain dulcimer, pennywhistle or bodhran (if the beat be right).

Doug made his first dulcimer, a cardboard model, in 1982. Custom made dulcimers soon followed and he has been playing ever since. The penny whistle came a few years later and he received his first bodhran, as a gift, in 1992. He began teaching pennywhistle workshops in 1990, and presented his first bodhran workshop in 1994. He was the originator of the Pizza Box Bodhran workshops and is known sometimes as the instructor for the "Italian Bodhran".

In 1995 he gave his first fretted dulcimer workshop. He taught mountain dulcimer, pennywhistle and bodhran workshops and performed in Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida and Alabama. He enjoyed traveling across the country entertaining folks with his fretted dulcimer, penny whistle and his collection of small town stories.

Doug & Lee are folks that you have probably met at many dulcimer festivals around the country. They are known both for their business (especially their dulcimer bags) and for their warmth, friendliness and humor. They are truly 'dulcimer friendly'.

Doug met Lee in south Texas while he was in the Navy. They married in 1951 and moved north after he got out of the service. Then Doug's work really begun as he worked to convert this "dyed in the wool Texan" to a "Yankee." According to Lee, he succeeded.

Doug's oldest daughter bought the first mountain dulcimer he ever saw from Chet Hines back in 1971. Doug played around on it for awhile, but did not know how to tune it or what to play, because no one in the area knew what it was. It soon became a wall decoration and languished there until his youngest daughter signed Doug up for a cardboard dulcimer workshop, taught by David Cross, at the Black Swamp Festival in Lima, Ohio. "That was my first encounter with other dulcimer players," explained Doug, "and I was hooked."

Doug took early retirement from Armco Steel in 1981 when they closed down the plant where he worked. As he puts it, "I never did like working anyway! Although we have retired from the normal working world, we have reentered it by forming our own company where we work and play harder than ever." Their company, Thistledew Acres, manufactures mountain dulcimer carrying bags and other bags of all sizes, dulcimer-friendly music stands, Doug's handmade spoons as well as offering a very special inventory of instruments, instructional materials and CDs.

Indeed, Doug and Lee became very successful "bag ladies." They named their home near Marengo, Ohio. "When we purchased our land in 1975, Doug remarked, "This will do 'cause we can't afford anything more,' so that phrase (this will do) became Thistledew', explains Lee, "and since we had twenty acres it became Thistledew Acres. Because we are a home business, it seemed right to call the company what we call our home.

Stephen Seifert's 3 Day Workshop

Just before the NGFDA (North Georgia Foothills Dulcimer Assoc.) Fall Festival, November 20-23; join me, Stephen Seifert, at the Unicoi State Park Lodge, November 17-19, 2014, for a three-day comprehensive guided tour of mountain dulcimer playing philosophy, technique, and music for ALL LEVELS. Regardless of your level of musicianship, I want to give you the big picture, A to Z.

Mention you're taking this class and get a special lodge room rate of $99 instead of the usual $109. The park also has cabins and various kinds of camping. Meals are not included but the lodge restaurant will be open.

No matter what you're new to or already good at, my method of playing and learning to play can help you be a better musician. This hands-on, pick-moving approach will include plenty of tunes and playing exercises designed to challenge and encourage. There ARE wrong ways to play the dulcimer. Let me help you find what's right for you.

I want to do more than teach you how to reproduce what I or someone else has already created. I want to show you how to thrill both you and your listener with an approach to playing music that's all about passionate creation and not just about reciting the same thing over and over. I want to give you the truth about how your favorite musicians do what they do. These concepts work regardless of how experienced you are or how simple or complex your music is. My goal is to surprise you with what you're really capable of.

Some of What We'll Cover

- Strumming
- Flatpicking
- Crosspicking
- Left-hand fingering
- Chords
- Chord-Melody
- Arranging
- Making up riffs, intros, and endings
- Reading tablature, sheet music, and hands
- Ear skills
- Group playing

Genres may include:

- American and Irish fiddle tunes
- Hymns
- Old-Time Songs
- Bluegrass
- Blues

Worried you're too much of a beginner or too advanced? I've designed these exercises to allow different levels to play together successfully. While I ask one level to do one thing, I'll ask another level to do something different but compatible.

Beginners, much of what I'm covering is essential information that will help you immediately. Some of it will seriously challenge you. Note taking and audio/video recording is highly encouraged. When necessary, I'll shoot short summary videos every hour or so. There's already over 50 summary videos from past events. On the last day, I'll send you links to all the videos via email.

Intermediate to advanced players, we're going to cover many concepts from the ground to the clouds. Reviewing the foundational principles is essential to getting the harder stuff. I want to help you strengthen your weak spots as we work towards higher level playing.

I believe good musicians care less about WHAT they're playing and a whole lot more about the act of playing itself. The point isn't just to play MUSIC. The point is to PLAY. Think I sound nuts? Take this class and find out how you can be nuts, too. I'm going to show you EXACTLY how to do it.

Workshop fee is $165. Register at http://stephenseifert.com or send an email to stephen@stephenseifert.com.

Fall Festival Sunday Morning Tab Is Ready

Tablature for the Sunday Morning Gathering at Fall Festival is available to participants on the NGFDA website (www.ngfda.org). Simply login with your username and password as you did for registration and go to your (Registration Profile). Click on the Tablature "Red Dot". Please print and bring with you to the festival. Only a limited amount of copies will be available at the festival.

Step 1 Click on " Registration"

Step 2 "click on "Make your Festival Selections"

Step 3 Insert your “username and password” you used to register

Step 4 the next screen you will see a button to retrieve your “Sunday Morning Tab” click on that button and it will bring up the tab for you to print.

Volunteers Needed

Producing the NGFDA Fall Festival requires a lot of people working together. Would you (and/or your non-playing spouse) be willing to pitch in this year? Folks are needed to staff the registration/faculty merchandise table in approximately two hour shifts, operate the cash register (for those already familiar with cash register operation). If you or your spouse can help with this, please contact Millie Chaplin at princessofpossumcorner@yahoo.com. Thank you.

Spotlight on Satellites

Garden City Strummers

Saturday, October 11, the Garden City Strummers spend the day in Washington, Georgia participating in Mule Day festivities at Callaway Plantation. Eight of our club members played in a 1785 log cabin on the site while sharing our tunes and information about dulcimers to the many people who passed through. We also got a little time on the main stage to entertain. A fun day had by all!

Henry Burns has been a member of The Garden City Strummers has since he was in second grade. As he went into high school, he really progressed in playing the dulcimer and even introduced it to the younger members of his school. Recently he was chosen athlete/scholar by the local newspaper. Below is the article. It mentions the dulcimer. He and his family have been to Unicoi for several years and he has advanced in the classes.

"Augusta Prep's Henry Burns is not your typical student. This week's Scholar Athlete recipient scored perfect on the SAT and has even been playing a unique string instrument called the mountain dulcimer since second grade.

The Scholar Athlete Award commends students who are well-rounded and Burns certainly fits that description. He admits his academics came more naturally to him than athletics, but he welcomed the challenge, and now he's an All-Region cross country runner.

Burns says he wants to study math and Spanish after high school but has yet to decide on a college. He says he wants to go somewhere far from home for the true college experience, though.

Congratulations to Henry Burns, this week's Scholar Athlete Award winner."

Yonah Pickers

A week in the life of the Yonah Pickers

In addition to their regularly scheduled performances and practices, this active group had a uniquely productive week last month. Not everyone did everything, but most everyone did something. The week began with a day at the "Pioneer Days" event at the Travelers Rest Historic Site in Stevens County. Lots of interesting attendees and presenters, and four hours of making beautiful music in a historically accurate venue resulted in a delightful day for the entire group.

Next on the list was their regular performance at a local senior center. Only, this one was a bit different. The activities coordinator of the center was celebrating Senior Center Week with an Oktoberfest theme. As part of their program, the group had been requested to present the fun song, "The Chicken Dance." With a little help from their friends, they found a copy of the tab and worked on it during the month. The group listening and the group playing all had a great time with the "Chicken," complete with dancing and hand clapping! Fun for all!

A few days later, the group had the opportunity to teach about the mountain dulcimer and play as well. The event was a home school group who was having a camp out that exposed the children to the history of the early 1800's by living it. This was Yonah Pickers second year to participate in this annual event. The children were divided into three age groups and three different age-appropriate lessons about the mountain dulcimer were shared including playing, singing, and dancing. The afternoon concluded with all the three groups of students and the Yonah Pickers joining together in a "Combined Band." Using what some refer to as the mountain dulcimer anthem, "Boil 'dem Cabbage Down," the older group of students actually played mountain dulcimers, the middle group played drums, the youngest group played rhythm instruments, and the Yonah Pickers played all their various instruments which on this occasion included a Tennessee Music Box, a washtub base, banjo, and, of course, lots of mountain dulcimers. It was awesome!

The week ended with a weekly practice that included playing their favorite songs and lots of brownies after which they got back to work on some new Christmas music! If you find yourself in the White/Habersham county areas on any practice day, you are always welcome to come join the fun. All instruments and all ability levels are welcome. If you would like more information about anything in this article, please contact bswhitmire@windstream.net.

Mountain Sounds

The combined players from Blue Ridge - Mountain Sounds Satellite groups have completed their portion of the CD, "Oasis Music Memories," and are eagerly waiting for the delivery date of the completed project. It was a very interesting experience from start to finish. Hopefully, other groups will be given the opportunity to record the different styles of dulcimer music being played across the North Georgia Mountains.

Middle Georgia Dulcimer Club

The Middle Georgia Dulcimer Club performed at a coffee house held at the Daybreak Ministry on Sunday, October 5. Several club members played and sang for a short set during the evening. Many attendees had never seen or heard the Appalachian dulcimer so everyone enjoyed the music.

October 18-19 the Middle Georgia Dulcimer Club members once again played at Mossy Creek Barnyard Festival. Each day around lunchtime during the festival the members played and sang a short set of songs in the small circle near the food vendors. Club members shared information about the Appalachian dulcimer as festival attendees asked many questions about this new-to-many instrument. Many attendees took advantage of the opportunity to learn to play several simple songs on some Appalachian dulcimers provided at the Club's tent.

Peach Jam 2014 Post-script

By Peggy Martin

Another fine time in the woods for NGFDA campers, cabin stayers, day trippers and a host of curious and sometimes participating folk in the park! Amy Waite, Park Naturalist, F.D. Roosevelt State Park in Pine Mountain GA recently wrote, "The 19 players were wonderful and the 125 guests greatly appreciated the music. Thank you so much for including our park and all the visitors in your get-together. It was a grand success and I hope your group had as much fun as the listeners!" Yes, the now renowned PEACH JAM Traveling Pick-up Band delivered again – complete with a one hour "jam tunes" presentation and audience encore requests!

LaGrange Troopers, Nancy and Dean Larson, put out the NGFDA event signs to guide everyone to the open playing shelter, and Bill Martin's 12 x 20 tarp shielded us from cool breezes of a front passing through. Thanks to Peggy and Rick Ertz for introducing the dulcimer to inquisitive newcomers; and thanks to Nancy Larson for leading a relaxing Saturday afternoon slow jam following the amphitheater dulcimer presentation. A scrumptious pot-luck dinner miraculously appeared at exactly 5:00pm on Saturday; thanks everyone for your contributions!

Then there were the eight folks who enjoyed a left over Sunday pot-luck dinner, then sat and played "Washington Square" into Sunday evening, over and over and over.

Mark your calendars for the next Peach Jam scheduled for October 2-4, 2015. And think about coming early for some laid-back visiting and playing with the early bird campers.

Volunteers Needed for Fall Festival Registration Table

by Lynn McCollum

Many of you have signed up to come to the wonderful Fall Festival at Unicoi this month. However, not very many of you put a little checkmark in the box that asks if you would like to volunteer. If you don't know what 'volunteering' consists of- you may be hesitant to say yes. I do not ask a lot from you. All this means is helping out at the registration desk. You would be checking people's names off the list (which shows they are here), giving them their folders and giving them bags with their preordered T-shirts and bags. The shift runs for about an hour and a half.

Also, I need a few volunteers to stand at the Masters Hall concert doors and take up tickets or money.

There is enough downtime that you will be able to volunteer at some point. I will email a schedule with all of the time slots on it and you will simply email me back with your available times. Some of you will have a non-playing spouse who will accompany you. We are more than happy to have them volunteer.

We ask that you get to the registration desk a few minutes before your shift starts to get briefed by the people you are relieving. I try and have two people scheduled at each time slot.

If you would like to help out by volunteering, please email me at lynnmccollum@windstream.net. I will add your name to the list and send out one mass email with all of the time slots on it.

Thank you so much. It takes each and every member of the NGFDA to make it run smoothly year after year.
